

BATTERSEA POWER STATION - to include 'Ramses and the Pharaoh's Gold' exhibition and view from the Chimney Lift

On our trips to the West End theatres, we've driven past the newly developed Battersea Power Station a hundred times. Now's your chance to explore it!

Our day begins with a visit to the 'Ramses and the Pharaohs' Gold exhibition - a stunning collection of over 180 Egyptian masterpieces on loan from the Supreme Council of Antiquities. The collection includes the coffin of Ramses II, a work of inestimable value. Discover gold masks and silver coffins from the royal tombs of Tanis, beautifully preserved animal mummies and amulets and dazzling jewellery alongside colossal sculptures, carvings and stone heads.

After enjoying the exhibition, your time is your own to browse the extensive range of boutique, designer and other shops and to get some lunch in one of the huge number of eateries, perhaps on the river.

We'll then head for the Chimney Lift. We'll likely break into two groups - one group to arrive at the Lift at 2.30pm, another group at 2.45pm. Before going up in the Lift, there is an exhibition to browse, where you can learn about the Power Station's rich heritage, architecture and technology. Then continue onwards and upwards, as the Lift makes its exhilarating ascent to a view point 109 metres above ground, offering magnificent 360° views across London.

We'll depart the Power Station at 4.00pm. A fascinating and eye-opening day out!

Excursion cost: £80 per person

To include: Entry to the Ramses exhibition; ticket for Chimney Lift; driver's gratuity and administrative charges.
